

Menopause Special Skills Module

Faculty of Sexual & Reproductive Healthcare & British Menopause Society
Two-Day Theory Course for the Certificate in Menopause Care

Leeds - Thursday 11 & Friday 12 October 2018

Crowne Plaza Hotel, Wellington Street, Leeds, LS1 4DL

This course provides the knowledge component of the Menopause Special Skills training module

It will enhance the clinical confidence and practice of any doctor or experienced nurse working in primary care or women's health. It will explain the evidence base and encourage a reflective and yet pragmatic approach using an interactive lecture and workshop format. Delegates will learn to apply their new knowledge in a way that is relevant to their working environment.

The medical course organisers are Dr Heather Currie, Associate Specialist Gynaecologist and Obstetrician, BMS Chair, Co-Editor of Post Reproductive Health and MD of Menopause Matters; Dr Julie Ayres, Specialty Doctor in Gynaecology, BMS Member and Communications Officer, Yorkshire Menopause Society; and Mrs Elaine Stephens, Menopause Specialist Nurse, BMS Council Member and Administrator, West Midlands Menopause Society.

What is the Menopause Special Skills Module?

This is a combined Theory and Practical Training module aimed at doctors who work regularly in the field of women's health. Attendance at the theoretical course will result in a certificate of attendance which, if followed by the completion of competence-based practical training and assessment, will earn a 'Certificate in Menopause Care'.

An 'Advanced Certificate' may be awarded to those who have satisfied the criteria for 'the Certificate' and who have undertaken further competence-based practical training. A doctor with a 'Certificate in Menopause Care' has the necessary skills to work within a dedicated Menopause clinic and those holding 'Advanced Certificates' would be suitable to lead Specialist Menopause services.

Why consider this course?

This course provides the knowledge component of the menopause special skills training module. It will enhance the practice and clinical confidence of any doctor or experienced nurse working in primary care or women's health. It will explain the evidence base and encourage a reflective and yet pragmatic approach using an interactive lecture and workshop format. The delegate will learn to apply their new knowledge in a way that is relevant to their working environment. Subsequent practical training for those wishing to proceed to certification can be organised by contacting a local Primary Trainer. Extended training to the level of an advanced certificate would be required to become a GPwSI taking referrals from colleagues. The Handbook of the British Menopause Society provides essential information and represents the syllabus for the basic certificate. It will be issued prior to attendance and should be read in order to derive best value from the course.

Booking

The cost of the course is £425.00.
